The focus of the Youth Exchange “Who am I? Who are you? Who are WE?” is exchanging, sharing experiences, learning together, teaching European values and trans-cultural skills. The participants will discuss questions about their own identity and background and the meaning of clichés they face (as students, residents of a country, young people...) as well as about the importance of European Citizenship. By getting to know themselves better, they will recognize their possibilities of contribution to their region, their country, but also in Europe. At the same time, the youngsters should discover that in addition to formal, there are also informal learning processes that offer the opportunity to further develop one's own interests and to acquire soft skills.
